

CEU Summer course on ROMANI IDENTITIES AND ANTIGYPSYISM

6 July - 10 July 2020 – Budapest, Hungary

The summer course is part of the Roma in European Society Initiative funded by the Velux Foundations, Open Society Foundations Roma Initiatives Office, and the Roma Education Fund, in cooperation with Council of Europe.

Image by Damian Le Bas

The aim of this CEU Summer School is to link participating students and scholars with a transnational network of scholars in order to investigate the forms of oppressions faced by Roma and to analyse the mechanisms through which exclusion of Roma takes place in different fields of public life. A methodological, analytical and theoretical focus on antigypsyism serves as prerequisite for a multifaceted research agenda with strong policy implications. The questions this summer school aims to address are: What is antigypsyism? Is this the best term to be used? Is antigypsyism measurable? How to analyse antigypsyism? What are its manifestations? How is it produced and reproduced in different areas of public life? Is there a need to propose new terms to interpret and analyse the situation of Roma? What is the relation between antigypsyism and Romani mobility, often defined as nomadism? How is antigypsyism related to gender and class?

The summer school will serve as a platform from which we can develop communities of scholarship and practice that feature Roma at their center, as well as a mentoring network, scholarly outputs and practical engagement with Romani communities through dialogue and scholarly practice.

For further academic information on the course and on eligibility criteria and funding options please visit the web site at summeruniversity.ceu.edu/romani-identities-and-antigypsyism-2020

THE VELUX FOUNDATIONS

VILLUM FONDEN ✕ VELUX FONDEN

ROMA EDUCATION FUND

OPEN SOCIETY FOUNDATIONS

✉ Nador utca 9, H-1051 Budapest, Hungary (36 1) 327 3811
facebook.com/ceu.summer
E-mail: summeru@ceu.edu

Course Directors

Ethel Brooks, Department of Women's and Gender Studies, Rutgers University, USA

Angela Kocze, Romani Studies Program, CEU, Hungary

Iulius Rostas, Romani Studies Program, CEU, Hungary

Course Faculty

Colin Clark, School of Media, Culture and Society, University of the West of Scotland (UWS), UK

Timea Junghaus, The European Roma Institute for Arts and Culture, Germany

Anna Mirga-Kruszelnicka, European Roma Institute for Arts and Culture, Germany

Margareta Matache, FXB Center for Health and Human Rights, School of Public Health, Harvard University, United States of America

Marton Rovid, Romani Studies Program, CEU, Hungary

Central European University's summer school (CEU SUN), established in 1996, is a program in English for graduate students, junior or post-doctoral researchers, teachers and professionals. It offers high-level, research-oriented, interdisciplinary academic courses as well as workshops on policy issues for professional development, taught by internationally renowned scholars and policy experts (including CEU faculty).

CEU reserves the right to change course details.

Non-discrimination policy

Central European University does not discriminate on the basis of – including, but not limited to – race, color, national and ethnic origin, religion, gender or sexual orientation in administering its educational policies, admissions policies, scholarship and loan programs, and athletic and other school-administered programs.