

STUDY TRIPS AT CENTRAL EUROPEAN UNIVERSITY (CEU)

CEU offers thematic Short Study Programs that combine rigorous academic courses with a carefully selected range of cultural and social activities, in and around Budapest. These programs offer opportunities to experience an American-type classroom environment, learning through discussion and critical thinking at one of the most international universities in the world, and to discover a great European city with a lively cultural and social life.

CEU Short Study Programs, conducted in English, are tailored to the interests and needs of each partner organization.

Tailor-made courses can be offered for credit or for audit, to undergraduate or graduate students, in a range of study fields including:

- Business Studies including Business Analytics and Big Data Management
- Cognitive Science
- Comparative History and Medieval Studies
- Cultural Heritage Studies
- Gender Studies
- Economics - Global Economic Relations
- Environmental Sciences and Policy
- Human Rights
- International Relations
- Mathematics and Its Applications
- Nationalism Studies
- Philosophy
- Political Science
- Public Policy
- Sociology and Social Anthropology

In addition to courses, CEU study trips offer leisure programs, tours, day trips, visits to companies, and civic engagement opportunities with NGOs, each designed according to the preferences of the partner institution.

Study trips can be organized as full programs (5-30 days) or as a stopover of a few days throughout the academic year. Accommodation is provided in air-conditioned single or double rooms with a bathroom in the CEU Residence Center.

The Program Fee will be calculated according to the needs of the partner institution. To request an offer, please indicate your needs and preferences: field(s) of study, number of students/faculty, duration and preferred time of the year.

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY

Budapest, the capital of Hungary, is a vibrant and beautiful city located on both sides of the River Danube: hilly residential Buda, with Ottoman-era thermal baths, the royal palace and Matthias Church; and busy Pest, with its treasure of museums and historical buildings, colorful ruin pubs and beautiful pedestrian streets peppered with shops and eateries. The vivid cultural scene includes world-class festivals, theaters, concert halls and sporting events, as well as a wide variety of international foods as well as delicious Hungarian cuisine. With as many sunny days as some Mediterranean resorts and a host of low-cost airlines serving the city, Budapest offers countless opportunities for local activities and easy travel to international destinations.
